Who is Allan Fox ?

When you buy your Franchise I will be your coach, mentor, all round business leader and the first person you should turn to when you need a hand, so it makes sense to know a bit about me.

I am a husband: having been married to Robyn, my life partner and business partner, for over 35 years.

I am a father: we have a daughter and a son, both of whom we are immensely proud of, even though they both ran away from home and bought their own houses.

I am a grandfather: which gives me enormous pleasure, being able to watch Sean grow and develop and to be part of that process.

I used to be a pom: and now I am a proud Australian, having lived here for 30+ years.

I live in the hills: we built our home in Mundaring 20 years ago and we settled in.

What's My Background ?

I worked in the corporate world for the past 27 years and when I decided to have a 'sea change' I was the general manager of a facilities maintenance company with annual turnover of approximately AUD$30M.

I have also specialized in the management and provision of remote accommodation services and facilities for the resource sector since the early 70's.

This included working on a number of the landmark WA projects such as the North West Shelf Gas Project, Mt Keith Nickel and the Argyle Diamond Mine, for blue chip clients – Woodside Energy, BHP Billiton, and Rio Tinto.

Why did I join Jim's ?

Jim's offered me both a great lifestyle and an excellent long term business.

When we bought the Master Franchise for WA in April 2009 we started with a clean slate, we had no franchisees, no work, and no one knew about us.

In those early months I set up the first franchise, put an advertising strategy in place, and set about making sure the people of Perth heard of Jim's Car Cleaning

Today, our franchisees have literally more work than they can handle.

In a couple of years I will probably give up detailing vehicles, but for now I just enjoy it too much to even consider it.
