

The World of Bob

Bob sailed on the Azamara Quest, November – December 2008. On the day the cruise started Bob wore a t-shirt that stated ..

Whatever you do, don't piss off Bob

The word Bob was larger and in a different colour and font, just in case you had trouble reading it, and I was instantly intrigued, fascinated, and drawn to watch for Bob to see what he wore next.

I wasn't disappointed because on subsequent days Bob continued the entertainment and wore shirts that each carried a message;

Sir Bob

It's lonely at the top but you get to sit next to Bob

A day without sunshine is like a day without Bob

His lordship, also known as Bob

From the first day that I saw Bob I was sure that one day I would chat with him and see what the story was regarding the t-shirts [I also thought they would be great for my son]. So you can imagine my surprise when, at breakfast one day, I return to the table from the buffet [complete with juice, cereal, eggs, bacon, pastries, etc] to find that I have been joined by Bob and his wife.

It turns out that Bob has 30+ of these shirts, they are sold on the net from time to time, and he buys them. They have Bob on them and his name really is Bob.

From that day on, we talked regularly, traded paperbacks and banter.

By the way, Bob is a very large man, he's humorous and he's likeable, and he's the guy that you want to say you knew on a cruise.

Bob .. bigger than life .. clone him .. the world needs more Bob ..

And that's my 'slant on life'..
